

Discoveries need discoverability.

The electrochemical and solid state community is making key discoveries in the areas of renewable energy, clean water, food safety, medical technology, and more. Such important discoveries need maximum discoverability.

ECS Author Choice Open Access gives you the opportunity to make your research freely available to anyone with an internet connection.

Find out more about how you can keep your copyright, reach more readers, and help save the world!

www.electrochem.org/OA

